

It is a sad day indeed when government feels it necessary to so fully violate the constitutional rights of its citizens. The FBI is already tapping emails illegally... now for it to be done legally is a big slap in the face. Where will this stop? If I wanted a police state I would immigrate to China.

By the way... the fact that the FCC cares more about the 'f-word' or a nipple flash when there are thousands of Americans dieing in Iraq for the RIGHT to say those words... ironic don't you think? Pathetic is more like it.
